Hate Crimes & Community Awareness

As part of the new initiative against immigrant hate crimes, the Emerald Isle Immigration Center would like to invite the community and the many immigration service providers to attend our Hate Crimes & Community Awareness training on Tuesday, August 31 at 6PM presented by Det. Eric Sanchez, NYPD Hate Crime Task Force.

Training topics: what is a hate crime, how to report it, and how the community can work to prevent it.

If you would like to participate, please contact Karla Rosero, EIIC Bilingual Immigration Counselor and Chair of the EIIC Immigrants Against Hate Commission at krosero@eiic.org or call at 718–478 5502 ext. 202.

How to Report a Hate Crime

In light of recent attacks in Staten Island allegedly based on race and/or ethnicity, Emerald Isle Immigration Center would like to remind the community to report all threats, harassment, and violence directly to the Police Department. The NYPD Hate Crime Task Force is well-equipped to address these complaints.

To report a hate crime, you must call 911 immediately. Do not hesitate to call 911, regardless of your immigration status or criminal history.

A police officer from your local precinct will come to your location and interview you about what happened. Honestly and specifically tell the officer about everything you saw and/or everything that happened to you. If you believe it was a hate crime, let the officer know. The officer should then request a supervisor (a sergeant or higher-ranking officer) to respond to the location if one is not already present. Once he or she arrives, the officer’s supervisor will interview you about what happened. This supervisor will determine if the Hate Crime Task Force should be notified.

Remember, we cannot protect our community from hate crimes unless we report them.
SB 1070, Arizona Anti Immigrant Law

U.S. District Court Judge Susan Bolton blocked key parts of Arizona's controversial immigration law, known as SB 1070, one day before it was supposed to go into effect. The United States Department of Justice filed suit against Arizona and Arizona Governor Janice K. Brewer on July 6, 2010, claiming that SB 1070 is invalid because Arizona does not have the constitutional power to make its own immigration law. On the same date, the Department of Justice also filed a motion asking Judge Bolton to keep the law from going into effect until the end of the trial. On July 28, 2010, Judge Bolton granted the motion—but only for the most controversial components of SB1070.

The following parts of the law will be put on hold:

- A portion of Section 2, requiring that Arizona officers make a reasonable attempt to determine the immigration status of any person they stop or arrest if they have a “reasonable suspicion” that the person is an undocumented alien or is out of status. This portion also requires that the police officer verify the person’s immigration status with federal authorities before releasing him.
- Section 3, making it a crime if a non-citizen does not apply for and carry alien registration papers.
- A portion of Section 5, making it a crime for an unauthorized alien to ask for, apply for, or perform work.
- Section 6, allowing the Arizona police to arrest any person they believe has committed a crime that would get him deported from the U.S., even if there is no probable cause to believe the person has committed the crime, and even if the police do not have a warrant to arrest him.

Women’s Equality Day – August 26th

Women in the United States did not always have the right to vote. In 1848, a group of determined women (including Susan B. Anthony and Elizabeth Cady Stanton) came together in Seneca Falls, New York, to demand this right. These women marched to Washington and protested outside of the White House, where they used Constitutional text and the President’s own words to call for suffrage. Many were arrested, imprisoned, and tortured in jail. Many went on hunger strikes in protest. Even though they suffered, these women continued to call for voting rights for years.

On August 26, 1920, their voices were finally heard. On that day, the 19th Amendment, guaranteeing women the right to vote, was added to the Constitution. Since 1971, the United States has celebrated Women’s Equality Day every year on August 26 to commemorate the dedication of the countless women who overcame many obstacles in order to secure the right to vote.

Although men and women are now considered equal in the eyes of the law, women still face social inequalities for which they still fight to resolve. This August 26th, please take the time to reflect on all that women have had to endure, and to support an even greater movement for true Women’s Equality.
